Welcome to module 1

Welcome to the first section of the course!
In the next several videos, we'll discuss what it means to have a security mindset, and how you'll use that mindset to protect an organization's assets and data.
Then, we'll explore the process of incident escalation in the event of a breach.
Finally, we'll share information to better help you understand the sensitive nature of the data that you'll work to protect.
Coming up, we'll focus on how to develop a security mindset then use that mindset to protect organizations and the people they serve.
